Scots night raises £400 for church repair fund

A SCOTTISH–themed evening has raised more than £400 for a West Lancashire church.

The nationally–recognised Cantique Chamber Choir held the event to raise money for repairs at St James' Church, Westhead.

The choir performed traditional and Scottish songs, accompanied by a bagpiper, at the Touch of Burns Night event.

Burns Night is a celebration of the work of the Scottish poet Robert Burns and celebration events are usually held on or near to his birth date, January 25.

Paul Kenyon, one of the event organisers, said: "The choir gave their usual medley of songs for the first half but in the second half they performed a Scottish medley, accompanied at times by piper Ian Ross – and with audience participation, the church really came alive.

"We also had Scottish–themed refreshments, including haggis–topped oat cakes, salmon oatcakes and Scottish shortbread biscuits.

"And West Lancashire's town crier Don Evans gave the address as the haggis was brought in by Sue Porter, the chef from the Halton Castle pub in Westhead, accompanied by Ian Ross, the piper.

"In total the concert raised more than £400 which will be put towards the church repairs fund."

HEALTH STAFF WARNED OF FUNDING CRISIS AT HOSPITALS

Big loss expected at trust despite profit forecast

By Ollie Cowan

CHIEF executive of the Southport and Ormskirk Hopsital NHS Trust, Jonathan Parry, has written to all trust members outlining his major concerns over the fact that they expect to make a loss of nearly £1 million by the end of the financial year (April 2015).

The letter, sent out to all employees who work at both sites, was circulated during Christmas, with Mr Parry apologising for being forced to send out "such a negative message."

In the letter it is revealed that the trust expects to make a loss of £900,000 by the end of the financial year, but warns this figure could rise unless more is done to keep them from moving into debt.

The figure is particularly damaging considering the trust's development authority originally forecast they would make a profit of £1.9 million.

Worryingly, all staff are now being asked to suggest ideas and different ways of cost–cutting to their line managers who will then feed the suggestions back to trust chiefs.

In the letter Jonathan Parry writes: "The decline in our financial health is very disappointing given we have declared a profit for the last seven years but cost pressures that have contributed include a delay in delivering a saving associated with the movement of pathology services.

"A failure to close a ward as expected in our cost improvement plan, due to rising demand and patient safety, clinical locum and agency costs and additional work to maintain our waiting list targets are also having an effect.

"This is a serious situation and puts our future planning in jeopardy. I know that many staff believe that we say the same thing every year and then go on to produce a profit but this year is very different; we will have to work very hard collectively to ensure our loss at the year–end is not worse than £900,000.

Public views sought on strategy to revitalise Ormskirk town centre

RESIDENTS are being invited to have their say on a new document which West Lancs Council chiefs hope will help to 'shape a successful and vibrant future for Ormskirk town centre'.

The draft town centre strategy has been developed with the aim of driving growth to ensure that Ormskirk can remain attractive and competitive as our high streets change.

The council believe that with schemes such as refreshing the pedestrianised area in Moor Street coming forward, there is renewed desire and energy to help revitalise the town centre and say the draft strategy aims to guide and help deliver these changes.

Key issues identified include how Ormskirk Market can diversify and attract more shoppers, for example by having local produce markets, arts and crafts traders and stalls for student traders from Edge Hill University.

Some of the main proposals covered in the strategy include:

• Developing a website dedicated to Ormskirk town centre and utilising social media.

• Developing a brand, marketing campaign and improving the management of the town centre.

• Improving and enhancing the appearance and appeal of the town centre, including making the most of the town's historic character.

• Reviewing car parking to ensure that a range of parking solutions are provided and considering providing free car parking for shorter periods of time.

• Improving transport and access arrangement in the town.

• Looking to improve the evening/night–time economy to create a vibrant and safe environment after 5pm, including the introduction of food and drink festivals.

• Improving the amount of data held about the town centre, including considering the introduction of a new footfall monitoring system.

The consultation will last until Tuesday, April 14 and members of the public can find out more about the strategy and how to have their say at four events where council staff will be available to answer questions.

These are being held as follows:

Monday, February 9 from 10.30am to 3pm at The Hub, Edge Hill University;

Thursday, February 19, 11am–4pm, Chapel Gallery, St Helens Road;

Thursday, February 26, 11am–4pm, Ormskirk Library, Burscough Street;

Monday, March 2, 4–7pm, Ormskirk Library;

Tuesday, March 10, 9.30am–1pm and 3–6.30pm, Morrisons Supermarket, Park Road, Ormskirk;

Monday, March 16, 4–7pm, Ormskirk Library.

To request a printed questionnaire contact the council's economic regeneration unit on 01695 585122 or email info.edu@westlancs.gov.uk.

Councillor David Griffiths, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for town and village centres, said: "Ormskirk provides a good offer to visitors and people living in the town with its great history, thriving market, shops, restaurants and fantastic events such as Ormskirk MotorFest. But our strategy can help make it an even better place now and well into the future.

"Everyone can give their views as we want to have the best possible strategy. But we particularly want Ormskirk people to take part in this process as they can give us their invaluable insight on the town in which they live."

£1.3 million canal project to start in Burscough

Report by Danielle Thompson

AN ambitious £1.3 million coast–to–coast canoe trail project is set to get underway in Burscough later this year and organisers are seeking local volunteers to take part.

The Canal & River Trust charity is developing the Desmond Family Canoe Trail project after a donation from The Desmond Foundation, a charity which promotes fitness and health schemes.

The project will connect some of the north of England's most deprived communities and, it's hoped, will improve young people's health and employment prospects in those areas.

More than 10,000 young people will help to transform 150 miles of canal, creating England's first ever coast–to–coast canoe trail, linking Merseyside to Humberside.

The first stage of the trail, from Burscough to Bootle, is scheduled to get underway in June.

Over the next five years volunteers aged 15 to 24 and their families will be recruited to create social action squads along the length of the Leeds & Liverpool Canal and Aire & Calder Navigation.

With help from Canoe England, the volunteers will work with existing canoe clubs, local schools and universities, community groups and disability organisations to design the trails that can be used by everyone in their local community.

They will map out the route identifying storage facilities, parking, safe access points in and out of the water and will need to physically help clear areas of the route.

Amy Irwin, 18, who has volunteered for the Canal & River Trust for two years, has adopted a stretch of canal near her home in Netherton.

She said: "I live opposite the Leeds–Liverpool Canal and love the view from my bedroom window but many young people don't even know there's a canal really close to them. This project will be great as it will get young people involved in their local community while getting them active both physically, by getting into a canoe and onto the water exercising, but also learning new skills like design, planning, management and promotion of the trail. I'm really excited about it and can't wait to get going."

For more information email coasttocoast@canalrivertrust.org.uk or visit www.canalrivertrust.org.uk/cc.

Yew Tree Farm site Masterplan formally adopted by council

Report by Danielle Thompson

THE Masterplan for the development of up to 1,000 homes on the Yew Trew Farm site in Burscough has been formally adopted by West Lancs Council – despite some local opposition to the plans.

Council chiefs say the Masterplan, shaped following public consultations, will ensure the site is developed "in the best possible way for Burscough and West Lancashire."

Yew Tree Farm has been allocated for development in the council's Local Plan which provides planning guidance on where new housing, employment sites and leisure facilities should be located within the borough up until 2027, for the benefit of people who live and work there.

The Masterplan designates what type of development is expected be delivered on the site, which includes:

• Housing – at least 500 homes for the current Local Plan period and up to a further 500 if needed for the future.

• Specialist housing for the elderly – 20% of housing should meet the needs of elderly people.

• Affordable housing – 35% should be affordable housing.

• Employment – 11 hectares of land

Councillor Martin Forshaw

(a total area roughly the size of 11 football pitches) for the current Local Plan period and another nine to be safeguarded for employment developments if needed for the future.

• Community facilities that cannot be delivered or supported in Burscough town centre.

• Public Open Space – about five hectares to be earmarked for public open space, to include a large park facility, allotments and an important stretch of the proposed linear park to link Ormskirk and Burscough that must be delivered through the site.

Councillor Martin Forshaw, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for planning and development, said: "I would like to thank everyone who has given us their views and comments on the Yew Tree Masterplan and helped us put together this vital document.

"New homes and jobs can benefit us all. We firmly believe this document will help the council make sure developments on Yew Tree Farm provide the maximum benefits for people in Burscough and West Lancashire as a whole."

The Masterplan also states where each type of development should go and when it should be delivered.

It says what area of the site should be developed up to 2027, the lifespan of the current borough council Local Plan. It also designates what land within the Yew Tree Farm site should be safeguarded from development to meet future development needs beyond this Local Plan.

One area of land being safeguarded until after 2027 has been set aside for a new primary school, should one be needed.

Staff warned of funding crisis at hospitals

"The loss we make this year will carry over into the next year as debt, affecting the developments and improvements we would like to make. I will personally lead the delivery, on behalf of the board, of a new group of cost improvements and efficiency savings, which must generate savings of £1.2million.

"We need to reduce day to day expenditure over the next three months and carry that on into 2015/16. We will slow down recruitment but not nursing positions or other key clinical posts.

"We will recruit an external person to assist us in generating savings – this post will save more than it costs.

"If any trust members have any suggestions on cost reduction or lowering expenditure they should contact their managers.

"I'm sorry to send such a negative message and the board does recognise the achievements, pride and continuing endeavour that everyone displays in supporting the care and treatment of patients."

West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper, said: "This financial announcement from Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust is very disappointing. As we see from the correspondence to staff, the trust is unable to make cost savings as to do so would impact on patient safety.

"Given this announcement I am worried about the situation for next year and what will happen to Southport and Ormskirk's application to become a Foundation Trust.."

Crossings danger video

BRITISH Transport Police have released a video highlighting the dangers of trying to 'jump' railway crossings.

As part of Operation Look, a week of action focusing on crossing safety which runs until Sunday (February 8), they have released clips of people risking their lives by 'jumping' the crossings –trying to cross after the barriers have come down to avoid waiting.

As well as risking their own lives, the pedestrian, cyclist and car driver shown in the three separate incidents, risk the lives of others too by nearly causing serious collisions.

During Operation Look officers will also carry out additional patrols to promote safety and tackle deliberate misuse of crossings.

Ormskirk Metro store axed in Tesco cost–cutting drive

By Danielle Thompson

THE Tesco Metro in Ormskirk has been named as one of 43 stores nationwide being axed by the supermarket giant as part of cost–cutting measures.

The Church Street store will close on Saturday, April 4 but it is hoped that the 55 full and part–time staff will be offered relocation where possible.

Tesco has announced plans to cull a total of 18 Express, 12 Metro, seven superstores and six Homeplus stores across the country to cut costs. The company's chief executive, Dave Lewis, said: "The decision to close these stores has been exceptionally difficult to take.

"I recognise it will affect many hard–working colleagues, our customers and the communities in which these stores are situated. Our priority is to explain what this announcement means for our colleagues and wherever possible, offer them alternative roles with Tesco."

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has contacted Tesco and the shopworkers' union Usdaw to discuss the next stages for staff. She is calling for staff to be redeployed to other Tesco stores, including Burscough and Southport.

She said: "News of Ormskirk's Tesco Store closure is deeply disappointing for the 55 staff and their families who are affected by the decision. It's also bad news for retail in Ormskirk town centre.

"My priority is the staff at this difficult, uncertain and worrying time. Having experienced redundancy myself I understand the position they are in. I have spoken with both Tesco and Usdaw and will continue to work with them to ensure staff get the support they need and deserve.

"I am meeting the local store manager and the union representative to discuss any concerns and issues and to offer my support to staff. Over the years I visited the store on numerous occasions including national food collection day and for the computers for schools initiatives, which the staff have got heavily involved in supporting for the benefit of the local community.

"I will continue to push Tesco to ensure that they are working to see their employees remain in employment with access to all the advice, training and support they need. If any Ormskirk Tesco staff wish to speak to me or raise any concerns then they can get in touch on 01695 570094 or by email at rosie@rosiecooper.net."

Council teams up with neighbours to boost economy

THE borough council has teamed up with neighbouring authorities to develop strategies to improve the economy in West Lancashire.

West Lancs Council recently joined the Liverpool City Region Combined Authority (LCRA) as an associate member to help put the borough in a better position to take advantage of opportunities for economic growth, skills development and the creation of new jobs.

Council leader and portfolio holder for regeneration, Councillor David Westley, attended the LCRCA meeting with the council's managing director, Kim Webber.

The agenda looked at a number of issues of importance to businesses in West Lancashire, including the development of a long–term freight strategy, investment into the region and investment in skills.

Councillor Westley said: "Our involvement with the LCRCA enables us to have a say on emerging strategies aimed at boosting the local economy with benefits for West Lancashire and the Liverpool City Region. This helps make jobs more secure and creates new ones, which benefits us all.

"It was a very interesting meeting and we have learned a lot already. I am sure our membership will help West Lancashire prosper well into the future."

Mum to push for more safety measures at M58 black spot

A MOTHER who has campaigned for safety improvements to a motorway accident 'black spot' which claimed the life of her son, has welcomed recent resurfacing work but vowed to continue to push for further measures to be implemented.

Susan Davies contacted the Champion to highlight the problems with the stretch of the M58 between Junctions 1 and 3, which passes through West Lancashire, after father–of–three David Dale from Aughton died when his car left the carriageway about a mile from Junction 1.

That accident on December 26 last year was one or more than 30 on that stretch of motorway in the last three years. Susan's son, Robert was killed on the same stretch in August 2011 and a subsequent investigation revealed that his accident may have been caused by excess water on the carriageway.

The Highways Agency carried out resurfacing work on the stretch over the weekend January 23 to 25 but Susan fears it might be a case of too little, too late.

She said: "I have been calling for a crash barrier for the last 18 months. I am pleased that the Highways Agency have finally resurfaced the road but if they had done this work 18 months ago, perhaps there might not have been so many accidents – and a second fatality.

"Over the last three or four years the agency has largely ignored this stretch. It needs lighting, a crash barrier and more signs warning about flooding after rainfall.

"The worst injuries and the fatalities result when cars go through the fence and down the embankment, so the barrier is the most important part of the campaign for me."

Company bosses invited to business–boosting initiative

WEST Lancs Council chiefs are urging local company bosses to attend a special business and stakeholder event to be held in the borough next Wednesday, February 11 where they can learn more about a major strategy that aims to help create new jobs and boost growth.

The local authority is currently working on a West Lancashire Economic Development Strategy and want to hear people's views on the draft strategy as part of a public consultation to help them prepare the final document.

The 10–year blueprint aims to ensure the borough's businesses can take full advantage of the opportunities created by initiatives such as Liverpool Superport and from the Local Enterprise Partnerships in Liverpool and Lancashire.

Report by Henry James

Companies in West Lancashire can find out more about the draft strategy at the free consultation event for businesses and public sector partners at the Best Western Lancashire Manor Hotel in Prescott Road, Skelmersdale on February 11 from 8 to 10.30am.

Speakers will talk about the draft strategy, the West Lancashire Economy Study which helped guide the strategy, and the latest on the Liverpool Superport.

There will also be a chance to ask questions and share views on the consultation and to network with other businesses.

To register for the event visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/businessevents.

West Lancs Council leader and portfolio holder for regeneration, Councillor David Westley, said: "I would urge company bosses to come to this special event where they find out more about our very important plan.

"New jobs and economic growth will benefit us all, and we want business people to take an active part in the consultation process for the strategy as they can give us their own special insight."

To read the draft strategy and have your say visit the council's website www.westlancs.gov.uk/yourviews.

The public consultation runs until Wednesday, February 25.

Councillor David Westley

Borough firms urged to enter digital awards

By Danielle Thompson

BUSINESSES in West Lancashire are being invited to enter a contest for digital companies which have excelled in the North of England.

The 17th annual Big Chip Awards – organised by Manchester Digital, the independent trade association for digital business in the North West – recognise digital companies and creative agencies from the Scottish Borders down to Derbyshire, as well as any businesses or organisations that have undertaken digital initiatives in the past year.

This can include everything from a company website to a mobile application.

There are 22 categories in total, of which five are new this year.

The new categories are Best B2B E–business Project, Best B2C E–business Project, Best Use of Content Marketing, Most Innovative Application of Technology and Best Game.

Business owners have until Monday, March 16 to enter and a short–list will be announced on Thursday, April 30.

Last year there were more than 300 entries from 160 different organisations.

Chair of the Big Chip steering group and secretary of Manchester Digital, Shaun Fensom, said: "It gives me great pleasure to announce the 17th Big Chip Awards. We've got some great new categories and a fantastic judging panel of different industry experts, so we're expecting plenty of entries.

"The Big Chip Awards is a brilliant platform to celebrate the excellence of the digital sector in West Lancashire. This wonderful part of the world is emerging as an important digital sphere and the awards celebrate this and the diversity of the sector."

Entries can be submitted at bigchipawards.com. The first two entries are free, subsequent entries cost £95.

This will include a meal starting at 7.30pm and any women interested in joining the group are welcome to go aong.

British Lions ace to open rugby club's revamped clubhouse

By Danielle Thompson

FORMER Scotland international and British Lions tourist, Nathan Hines, will perform the official re–opening ceremony of the refurbished Ormskirk Rugby Union Club clubhouse at 7pm on Friday (February 6).

The Green Lane base has been undergoing renovation for nearly a year, with the club spending £150,000 on updating the changing facilities and now the clubhouse, generously supported by the Rugby Football Union and the Rugby Football Foundation.

Rugby fans are invited to go along and join in the festivities which start at 5pm and include the chance to have photos taken with the Women's World Cup trophy, which is currently held by England.

Nathan Hines

The trophy is at the club as a part of the RFU's 10,000–mile tour around the UK to raise the profile of women's rugby.

The Ormskirk Ladies team have enjoyed a successful year, celebrating their 20th competitive season by winning an historic league and cup double and prompting the club to start two more ladies teams at junior level.

Club chairman, Nick Jacobs, said: "We're delighted to have secured such a great name as Nathan Hines to re–open the clubhouse for us. 2015 is a watershed year for us as a club and the recent redevelopment is a massive part of that.

"Nathan's appearance, along with the Women's World Cup trophy display, is a terrific honour and a testimony to the hard work that the volunteers have put in to the club over the last few years."

Members of the Diving 4 Fun team with their certificates and medals

Young divers make a splash

A TEAM of talented divers from West Lancashire really made a splash when they emerged victorious in a triangular tournament.

The youngsters, all members of the Diving 4 Fun club who train at Nye Bevan swimming pool in Skelmersdale, took on rivals from the Bury Dragons and Blackpool Wyre clubs in the Flip and Fun North West diving competition staged at Manchester.

The Diving 4 Fun team scooped nine of the 18 medals up for grabs, making them the overall winners with Blackpool Wyre winning six and Bury Dragons three.

Gold medal winners for the Diving 4 Fun squad were eight–year–old Ryan Shaw and six–year–olds, Huw McCarthy and Kate Gardner. Leon Ferra, 10, and five–year–old Madisson Williams took silver, while Elizabeth McGlinchey, 13, Olivia Sumner, 12, Jenna Byrne, 10 and seven–year–old Ryan Ferra, all achieved bronze medals.

Carlos Ferra from Diving 4 Fun said: "We won a grand total of nine medals to be the overall winning team. However, the team members who did not achieve medals still achieved 85% of their best performance, which is outstanding, so I am very proud of the whole team."

Constabulary sign up 59 new recruits

Report by Danielle Thompson

LANCASHIRE Constabulary has welcomed 59 new officers, who will now shadow experienced officers as they work across the borough.

Warrant cards were handed out to the new officers at attestation ceremonies earlier this month.

Lancashire's police and crime commissioner, Clive Grunshaw and chief constable, Steve Finnigan opened up external recruitment for new PCs last year.

The officers are now two weeks into their initial training and as well as shadowing officers they are being trained in investigative interview techniques and undertaking Crime Scene Investigation training.

The commissioner said: "It has been several years since Lancashire Constabulary was able to open up recruitment externally and the demand the force received from people wanting to join was phenomenal.

Clive Grunshaw

"All of our new officers have done exceptionally well to make it through the recruitment process and I now wish them the best of luck as they embark on their initial training. They should be very proud of themselves.

"The roles they will play in Lancashire will be vital. They will be responsible for keeping the public safe, upholding the highest standards of honesty and integrity and representing Lancashire Constabulary in our communities. I hope they will all be a real asset to the force."

Nineteen of the new recruits have already studied a foundation degree in policing at the University of Central Lancashire and will undertake a three–week 'bridging' course while the remaining recruits will complete a full 21–week training course.

After that they will spend 10 weeks working with a tutor constable before being assessed and signed off for independent patrol.

Before they are officially confirmed in post, all new officers are required to complete a two–year probationary period which includes an additional three development courses at the constabulary's Hutton HQ.

June takes West Lancs inspector role

JUNE Chessell is the new geographical inspector for West Lancs.

Inspector Chessell has more than 20 years' experience with a background in CID and response policing and is a public order commander.

She said: "This is a great time to take over the day–to–day control of West Lancashire and build on the good work done by my predecessor.

"These are challenging times in policing and my priority will be to ensure that I manage resources effectively against the threat and risk.

"I am looking forward to meeting the local people and working with our various partner agencies to ensure West Lancs remains a safe place to live and work."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Adrianna's sweet success

By Danielle Thompson

THE young winner of a contest organised by a local community group with the aim of promoting Ormskirk as the Gingerbread Town to draw on the area's historic links with the confectionery, has unveiled a 'life–size' five–foot ceramic model of her winning design outside her primary school.

Adrianna Usher, a Year 3 pupil at Aughton Town Green Primary School, beat six finalists from schools in Ormskirk and Aughton in the Gingerbread Model Contest run by the Ormskirk Community Partnership.

The group, which aims to support the town's residents, shops and businesses by organising projects and sponsored events, invited pupils from seven primary schools to submit designs in the shape of a gingerbread man, demonstrating something special to them to do with their school, family or the town.

Around 2,000 children entered the contest, with winners chosen from each of the schools presented with their framed designs, a certificate and six–inch ceramic figures of the design for themselves and for their school.

They were presented with the models by Kevan Wiggins, who set up the firm Blue Gnu in 2001 to produce ceramic replicas of the Super Lambanana in different colours across Merseyside.

The model of Adrianna's winning design, positioned at the entrance to her school in Town Green Lane, was unveiled by Adrianna and the Mayor of Lancashire, Councillor Doreen Stephenson, after a special school assembly at which members of the Ormskirk Community Partnership Gingerbread team explained what the project is all about.

Commuter blasts rail company over 'disgusting' carriages

Report by Ollie Cowan

A TRAIN operator which runs runs services through West Lancs has apologised to passengers on the Southport to Manchester line after a complaint about the state of the carriages.

Susan Jargo, who uses the Northern Rail service regularly to travel to her job in Wigan, says she is often appalled by the state of some of the carriages in which passengers are expected to sit. Images she has taken show ripped seats, unclean surfaces and spillages.

Susan told the Champion: "The photos I've taken are a mixture from a number of my journeys to and from work over the last few months. The latest I took on the 7.57am Southport to Wigan service on Wednesday, January 28 and show the disgusting state of the seats that we are expected to sit on.

"I sent a message to Northern Rail – as I always do – pointing out that not only were the seats filthy, broken and had no padding, but the floor was also flooded in parts with water leaking in. There was also a window which wouldn't stay closed making the train freezing cold.

"Is there anything that can be done to get Northern Rail to improve the trains that people are expected to travel on this line? I contact them on a regular basis but nothing is ever done.

"I pay more than £2,000 a year for my train ticket travelling to Wigan every day – it's totally unacceptable."

A spokesperson for Northern Rail said: "We would like to apologise for the condition of the train Ms Jago travelled on recently.

One of the damaged seats photographed by Susan Jargo

"All our trains are cleaned and maintained on a regular basis. Occasionally issues can arise or vandalism can occur while trains are in between these scheduled maintenance dates.

"If we become aware of any issues we can arrange for immediate work to rectify any problems.

"On this occasion our social media team received some images from Ms Jago via Twitter and they instantly informed our maintenance team once confirming which service she was travelling on."

Vital questions about fracking that need answers from our election candidates

ELECTIONEERING is starting and it's time to start telling your local representatives how you feel about fracking.

We should be asking our potential MPs and councillors of all parties and those who are canvassing for re–election why are they not objecting to fracking in view of the following points.

• Is it a fact there has been 25% reduction in the value property where test drilling for fracking is taking place?

• Drinking water could be contaminated where the fracking pipes pass through the aquifer layer (natural storage of drinking water below ground) true or false?

• Loss of large amounts of grade 1 agricultural land by roads and large masses of concrete at each fracking site, six acres per site has been quoted. Is this true?

• What happens to the six–acre site in three years' time when the gas field has run out?

• Will construction work on the six acres cause pollution of water courses from the site, having an adverse effect on wildlife and habitat?

• Who is going to maintain the six–acre 'well' sites when the gas is finished?

• The average use of each site is three years and then they move on to new sites leaving six acres of ruined land for each site and a further area of land for the new six–acre sites losing more fields of class A1 prime agricultural land. Is this a fact?

• What happens when there is damage to property from small earthquakes as triggered on the Fylde coast?

• Is it true they drill for two miles in all directions from the well heads to extract gas from under this two–mile diameter area for three years?

• Why is the government trying to rush through Parliament a bill to allow the exploration and extraction of gas from under your property without your permission?

You might like to keep this list handy when the canvassers arrive on your doorstep or even when you meet up with any politician at meetings etc.

Please ask these questions of all political parties for the sake of our future and the sake of our children's future.

Better run out of gas than food when we lose all this prime agricultural land.

Dave Corfield,
Halsall

Appeal to drivers: Please don't park on pavements

CARS that are parked irresponsibly on pavements can cause a potentially dangerous obstruction for pedestrians as it can force them onto the road and into the path of vehicles.

Newly–released research by YouGov has shown that three–quarters (74%) of people are affected by vehicles parked on the pavement.

Some groups – including people living with sight loss, older people or those with buggies – are at greater risk. 91% of respondents living with sight loss who responded to a Guide Dogs survey said that parked cars on the pavement regularly obstruct them.

You can see how dangerous pavement parking can be in real–life video footage, filmed from a guide dog's view, of a guide dog and their owner having to go out into the road to get around a car on YouTube.

I am urging the public to ensure they don't park on the pavement.

Phil Marshall,
by email

...and why are they getting away with it in Ormskirk?

WHY is a line of cars allowed to park in Church Street, Ormskirk every day, with several completely on the pavement, when there are at least five signs which clearly state: 'No parking – pedestrianised'?

If this was Southport there would be fine notices placed on each windscreen within 30 minutes!

Where are the police or trafiic wardens? Perhaps we could borrow one or two from Southport.

This has gone on for quite a considerable time as the authorities seem to bury their heads in the sand when contacted.

Concerned resident,
Ormskirk

Why should we council taxpayers subsidise 'free' rail travel for OAPs?

I AM appalled that our MP Rosie Cooper wants to support a group campaigning for free rail travel for West Lancs' pensioners (Champion, January 14).

Nothing is free, it would have to be paid for. Ask anyone from Sefton.

Free public travel means higher council tax.

I would object to paying more council tax subsidising free rail travel for those who already have free bus travel when my only means of public transport, i.e. the 300 bus service, has been taken away because of cost–cutting.

Get your priorities right, Ms Cooper.

A&E department is not a GP surgery

MY father was recently admitted to Southport Hospital, having suffered a stroke.

He has been in hospital for three weeks and the level of care he has received has been outstanding.

All the nursing staff, doctors and therapists within the stroke unit are caring, patient and professional. They are a credit to the NHS.

The staff not only have a fantastic rapport with my father, but make all the members of his family and friends extremely welcome. Nothing is too much trouble for them.

But I saw the problems the A&E Department has when I was waiting for the hospital to initially assess my father.

As the name suggests this is an accident and emergency unit – not a GP surgery.

While I anxiously waited as the nurses administered lifesaving care to my father I looked around the A&E room and was alarmed at the number of people who appeared fine. Around half of the patients were not wincing in pain and discomfort, but more had a look of complete boredom.

Some were happy to walk to the coffee machine and pop outside to use their mobile phones.

A&E units are over–stretched. If you ever have the misfortune to have a serious accident or emergency I am sure you too would expect the level of treatment and care my father received.

I would, therefore, appeal to people to consider carefully before they rush to A&E.

You never know, it could be your mother or father or other family members that require urgent lifesaving treatment.

Again my sincere gratitude to all the nursing staff at Southport Hospital.

Grateful,
name and address supplied

Splinter groups a breath of fresh air

I AM amazed at the letter from Alderman Bullen (January 28).

These splinter groups may be short–lived but they do a lot of good by shaking up complacency. They should be viewed like a breath of fresh air, or is there something to hide?

Also, it would be very helpful if Alderman Bullen would find the answer to the questions posed by the reader from Lathom. They were pertinent and do need answering plainly, openly and without any weasle words. This needs doing before election time.

MP welcomes move to safeguard postal voting

WEST Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper, has welcomed changes to electoral law which aims to protect the votes of those signed up to postal voting.

The Electoral Commission has campaigned since 2007 for the changes which will force electoral registration officers who are not satisfied that the signature declaration in the postal vote matches the signature kept on file, to write to the constituent informing them.

In addition to informing them that their vote has been rejected, they must then offer the voter the opportunity to supply an updated signature within six weeks.

Previously there was no obligation to inform the voter of the rejection, which could have led to many years of voting being rejected, if the officers felt there was a considerable variance in the signature.

Those voters who fail to reply within six weeks will be removed from the postal register, but are still eligible to vote at a polling station, or indeed re apply for postal voting.

It is hoped this will ensure a maximum number of valid postal votes are included in counts for future elections.

Rosie Cooper said: "I think this is a very responsible move to ensure that every voter who wishes to take part in the democratic election of their representatives, has the opportunity to and is aware of any reason why their vote may have been rejected.

"Some voters may find that their signature rejected in the next election and can then ensure they have their signature up to date. However, I would encourage any postal voters to take the opportunity now to update their signature, if they have not done so for a while and ensure the electoral registration officer accepts it in time for the General Election.

"This will also ensure the electoral registration officers can better deal with suspected fraudulent voting, as they will now work with local police on how best to respond and investigate suspected voting fraud."

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper

...and signs Motor Neurone Disease Charter

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has signed the Motor Neurone Disease (MND) Association's Charter in recognition of the rights and priorities of people living with the condition and their carers.

Motor neurone disease kills five people in the UK every day, with half of those diagnosed dying within 14 months. There is no known cure.

The condition is little understood resulting in sufferers often not receiving the care and support they need. The MND five–point Charter aims to change this by raising awareness and understanding.

Ms Cooper said: "I am pleased to support the MND Charter. I have seen the difference good services make to the lives of people with MND and believe everyone with this devastating disease should be supported to maximise their quality of life and die with dignity."

County council campaign to recruit foster carers

More homes needed for 1,600 children and young people in care

Report by Danielle Thompson

LANCASHIRE County Council is once again seeking to recruit foster carers for the 1,600–plus children and young people in the county who are in care.

Fostering means looking after a child or children in your own home as if they were part of your own family. And although it is not a paid post as such, allowances are payable depending on the age of the child.

County Councillor Matthew Tomlinson, cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "Lancashire's a big county and we look after hundreds of children who can't live with their own families. Often they've been removed for their own protection. We need to find them safe, loving, stable places to live, sometimes at very short notice.

"We regularly appeal to the people of Lancashire to think about fostering because this is a need that doesn't go away. We need families who can offer a home to a range of children and young people, from newborn babies to teenagers, and sometimes there are brothers and sisters we want to keep together.

"I've heard fostering described as the best job in the world and I think for many people that's true. There are very few jobs that allow you to make a huge improvement in a child or young person's life – it's a very special opportunity, both for the child who is looked after and the foster carers.

"As cabinet member I'm very mindful of the parental responsibility we have for the children and young people in our care. Every time I meet foster carers I'm struck afresh by the unstinting care they provide, their enthusiasm for what they do and the rewards it is very clearly bringing them."

Barbara Bath, county fostering manager, said: "We are looking for people who are patient, flexible and who don't give up easily. There are no special qualifications – personal qualities are much more important.

"Your circumstances – such as whether you're single, married, in a same–sex relationship, employed, own your house, have your own children etc. – don't really matter.

"Fostering might be perfect for people thinking about changing direction or perhaps whose children have left home.

"There are financial allowances to cover expenses so people will not be out of pocket. And once you're approved, there is support 24/7, further training, and social events to keep you in touch with other carers if you like. It's a real network of support."

Anyone interested in finding out more about fostering can call 0800 195 1183 or visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/fostering.

College welcomes professionals for Industry Week

WEST Lancashire College campuses played host to guest lecturers and seminars and workshops by industry professionals as part of Industry Week.

The Media Make–Up department welcomed Jane Bellis from Bellissimo.

A make–up artist and stylist for 17 years, Jane is also an experienced holistic and beauty therapist and nail technician who has led her organisation to the sought–after Investors in People Award.

She conducted a question–and–answer session with the learners interspersed with anecdotes from her career before giving a demonstration in make–up she had previously used in television advertising.

Media Make–Up students also got a taste of what's to come in the TV and film industries with a master class led by prosthetics artist, Paul Jamieson, who has worked on major productions including Channel 4's Utopia and the BBC's In the Flesh.

Beauty therapy students were also introduced to a range of industry workshops, using state–of–the art products and up–to–date techniques with the aim of preparing them for life in the workplace.

The Business Studies groups, meanwhile, took part in entrepreneurial tasks, including an Apprentice–style challenge.

A spokeswoman for West Lancashire College said: "Industry Week introduces learners to company owners and professionals from their chosen industry with the aim to prepare them for the world of work.

"We would like to thank all the businesses and individuals who came to talk about their jobs and industries to help enrich the experiences of our learners."

Record number of whooper swans recorded at Martin Mere

STAFF at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre have recorded their highest number of whooper swans in 2014/2015 and they are putting it down to the cold weather.

On Thursday, January 29 staff and volunteers have counted 1,720 whooper swans on the mere, which is a record number for this migration year, running from September to March.

As the region is experiencing a cold snap, these icy temperatures have resulted in swans migrating further south from Scotland settling at the Burscough reserve until March.

The centre is offering the opportunity to witness its spectacular swan feeds twice a day until Sunday, March 15.

The feeds will take place at 3pm at the Swan Link Hide, followed by a second feeding at the heated Raines Observatory at 3.30pm along with a talk and a question–and–answer session with one of the mere's dedicated volunteers should visitors have any questions about these special birds.

Rail fares from Liverpool are just not fair

RAIL fares have apparently trebled since privatisation 20 years ago.

Well, for me at least there was no surprise at all when one looked at the table which showed how train fares have risen compared to planes, coach and the private car for several given journeys from London.

It seems the 'walk on' open return ticket to Liverpool, which in 2005 would have cost £93, is now a whopping £309!

Now that would be bad enough as a statistic on its own. But look more closely and as usual these days, if you live in what used to be called North West England, you seem to get clobbered for train services far more than just about anyone else.

An open return from London to Edinburgh will set you back £313. Virtually the same as to Liverpool – though it is 414 miles rather than 220!

So is the Liverpool fare fair? Hardly.

Not that long ago Liverpool was pretty well served for long distance trains.

Now, unless you want to pay to travel to London, you can more or less railway whistle.

No longer can you catch a through train from Merseyside to Scotland. The train that used to run to Bournemouth now doesn't. I used to be able to travel direct to Liverpool from South Wales or get a train from Banbury to Liverpool. Manchester still has such trains.

You can still (I think) get a train direct to Newcastle or Scarborough – but these are not 'Inter City' trains, these are diesel units one step removed from ordinary commuter trains.

Mind you, I used to find the hourly (yes, hourly) service 'direct' train to Norwich a real boon. Even if the word 'direct' is something of a euphemism.

It's a Magical Mystery Tour of the Peak District and the Fens, and takes as long as catching Inter City trains from Liverpool to London, crossing the capital, and then on from London to Norwich.

But it is a beautiful and interesting journey – and you don't have to hump your luggage from Euston to Liverpool Street.

Guess what though? Yes, 'they' now want to split this through train in two, meaning a change of train in Nottingham.

Now this move has been suggested before and rebuffed. But how much longer, I wonder, will this meandering anachronism survive?

Mind you, if you are savvy and have time to spare, National Express will convey you by coach to London with an open return that costs only £39.50.

Anyway, the rail companies claim that the vast majority of their 'customers' (I still prefer to be a passenger) use pre–booked tickets. You CAN, if you're quick enough, get a return train ticket to Euston for a very reasonable £40.

But woe betide you if you miss your allotted train back. You'll be clobbered for the full fare.

And from personal experience I can tell you that if your journey crosses through several train operator's territories, things get even worse if engineering works impede your progress.

You cannot use your pre–booked ticket on other people's trains – which mean that on one occasion I was stuck with a bus journey from Peterborough to Nottingham on my way home from Norwich.

Had I paid through the nose for an open return I could have travelled by train via Leeds to Liverpool, arriving only minutes later than my original train from Norwich.

Ormskirk singer's debut single

A SINGER–songwriter from Ormskirk has released his début single online.

Craig Lawlor, who is signed up to Midlands–based Sound Hib Studios, has released the track, If You Knew, on iTunes, Amazon and the Google Play store.

The 24–year–old from Southport Road says his motivation for pursuing a music career was influenced by his love of Bob Dylan's work.

Band strike silver in prestigious contest

A TALENTED musical ensemble have struck silver in a prestigious national contest.

Despite facing stiff competition from bands from across the country, Skelmersdale Prize Band, whose members come from all over West Lancashire, impressed the judges to take second place – and a cheque for £1,000 – in the Butlin's Mineworkers Brass Band Championship.

The band, whose players' ages range from 14 to 70, performed a piece entitled Five French Masters, about works of arts by famous artist.

Band treasurer, Ken Haworth, said: "The adjudicators were particularly impressed with our conductor, David Chapman's interpretation of the music."

The Butlin's contest rounded off a busy period for the band, following a Christmas concert at the iconic St George's Hall in Liverpool and performing festive carols at Tesco in Burscough and Taylor's Farm in Lathom to raise funds.

Ken added: "We want to thank the customers and management of Tesco in Burscough for supporting us and Taylor's Farm for allowing us to play there."

Young families in county face nine–year wait to buy a house

Report by Henry James

Charity in call for more affordable homes to be built

A HOUSING and homelessness charity claims that a young couple with a child in Lancashire would have to save for more than nine years before they could afford to buy a house.

Research for Shelter looked at average wages, house prices, rents and spending on essentials to show the challenge faced by those trying to save for a home of their own in the region.

It found that couples without children face nearly five years of saving, leaving many with the difficult choice between getting on the property ladder and starting a family.

Single people face a similar challenge to couples with a child, with a wait of just under a decade until they can afford to buy.

The findings come as a separate Populus poll for Shelter shows that six in 10 parents across the country believe that young people's prospects of getting on the housing ladder have worsened over the last few years.

It also revealed that more parents feel housing prospects have worsened compared with other key issues, including youth employment and education.

Campbell Robb

Shelter says that successive governments' failure to build enough affordable housing has left millions trapped in an unstable and expensive rental market, where saving enough for their own home is now just a distant dream.

And with the General Election less than four months away, the charity is calling on politicians of all parties to commit to building more affordable homes to give young people a chance of a stable future.

Shelter's chief executive, Campbell Robb, said: "Home ownership used to be within most people's reach, but the rising shortage of affordable homes has pushed house prices up so high that for millions of young people it's now just a fantasy, however hard they work or save.

"Successive governments have announced scheme after scheme promising to help first–time buyers, but these have just papered over the cracks. The only way to make sure young people have a hope of a home of their own is for politicians to commit to building enough truly affordable homes."

Former retail boss is U3A group guest

A FORMER director of a national retailer will be guest speaker at the next meeting of the Aughton & Ormskirk branch of the Uinversity of the Third Age (U3A) at Christ Church, Long Lane, Aughton on Thursday, February 5.

Peter Quaint, 84, will present a talk entitled 'The John Lewis Partnership – Then and Now', tracing his career from sales staff to boardroom.

Admission is free and the talk will commence at 10.30am and coffee will be available in the adjacent Scout and Guide building from 9.30am onwards.

Anyone wanting further information about the group, which offers a range of activities for older people, can go to their website at www.aughton–ormskirk–u3a.co.uk.

Edge Hill student's summer date at Buckingham Palace

Report by Dean Jones

AN Edge Hill student who returned to education despite having been in business for many years, is set for a date at Buckingham Palace in the summer after being awarded an MBE in the New Year Honours List.

Fourth year BSc (Hons) business and management student, Valerie Allen was recognised for services to the community and business in Warrington and Halton.

As well as running her own welding supplies company, Valerie has been vice–chair of Halton Chamber of Commerce for two years and is active in encouraging businesses to take on apprentices and identifying live projects for young people to work on.

Skills

She employs three apprentices at her own company and also urges local businesses to assist charities who help vulnerable young people into employment by offering services or expert advice free of charge or at reduced rates.

On receiving the award she said: "The work I do is very rewarding and I'm delighted to have been acknowledged in the New Year Honours. It's amazing, I still can't believe it!"

Edge Hill student Valerie Allen who will pick up her MBE at Buckingham Palace in the summer

Speaking about her studies at Edge Hill, she added: "Although I have been in business for many years, my studies have taught me more about the importance of strategy and planning and have given me the skills to deal with human resources and health and safety issues in–house rather than having to outsource."

County's adult learners spoiled for choice

LANCASHIRE County Council's adult learning service has more than 280 courses starting this spring.

All of the courses will be held in local, accessible venues across the county, such as libraries, community centres, church halls, children's centres and schools.

Alongside core subjects such as maths and English, new courses include crafts, songwriting, stress management, nature's first aid, and Latin America. Taster sessions are available for many courses and the qualified tutors are happy to chat about which courses may suit you best.

For more information and a complete list of courses, visit www.lancashire.gov.uk or call 0300 123 6711.

Memory Lane trip for schools chief

Report by Dean Jones

THE county council's schools chief took the opportunity to combine her duties with a trip down Memory Lane when she paid a visit to the primary school which her own children attended.

County Councillor Nikki Hennessy, Lancashire's lead member for schools, was visiting St Michael's CE Primary School, Aughton in her official role but also took the chance to catch up with members of staff who remembered her children, even though they are grown up now.

Cllr. Hennessy, who lives near to the school, said: "My three children went to St Michael's so it was great to go in and chat to the staff. And it was good to see what a great job the school is doing to support their pupils.

"It's a lovely school, just as I remembered. They have a fantastic 'Forest School' where the children have an opportunity to learn and play in their wooded area."

Cllr. Hennessy, whose role covers all 600–plus schools in Lancashire, added: "I feel it's important as lead member to have a visible presence at our schools to act as a link between the county council, schools and our children, young people and their families.

"We have more schools than any other county and although it's a huge task to get around as many as possible, I am having a good go at it. And it would be remiss of me not to take time out to visit my local schools that support my community here in Ormskirk.

"Our teachers work so hard and so positively in such a demanding arena that we county councillors should be seen to acknowledge their hard work and provide support when they need it. I can't always find the answers, but I do help put them in touch with the right person.

"During my visits I like to be reassured that schools are being given good support from county council officers – which is always answered favourably.

"I enquire about their Ofsted preparation and staff readiness, about our looked–after children, what the pupil premium is spent on, healthy eating, physical activity, out–of–school provision, budget, and school maintenance.

"I ask what their greatest headache is or what keeps them awake at night.

"Schools are always welcoming and I appreciate the time they set aside for me.

"I like to talk to as many pupils and staff as possible, and I have been invited to talk to their school student councils on many occasions. This is always great fun and it allows the young people time to ask some tough questions, such as why did I become a councillor!"

Libraries celebration day

BOOK lovers across Lancashire are being invited to celebrate National Libraries Day on Saturday (February 7)

This year's theme, 'Unlock Your Library' aims to encourage all ages to learn about the many services available at their local library.

Julie Bell, Lancashire County Council's library manager, said: "This is an opportunity to take a fresh look at your local library and all it has to offer.

"In particular, we're reminding people that there's a wealth of high–quality digital information available at their fingertips, including many online resources that normally charge subscription fees, with the added benefit of knowing that we have validated all the resources in our digital library so the reference sites they visit are tried and tested."

The sites are free to anyone using a library computer or the Wi–Fi network in any Lancashire library. Many are also available 24/7 to library members who can log on from their own devices using their library card and PIN number.

Julie added: "Anyone can join our library service at any age, either online or by dropping in to their local library. You don't need any ID, it's free and once you've received your library card you can use it at any library in Lancashire."

County council advise: 'Check to see if care reforms affect you'

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE County Council are encouraging residents to find out if they might benefit from national care and support reforms due to come in on April 1.

The Care Act will see what have been described as 'the most significant reforms in adult social care for more than 60 years.'

For the first time there will be a new national eligibility test that all councils will have to use when they assess what help they can give people who may need care and support. As a result, wherever you live in England if you meet the national benchmark you will be entitled to support.

The act will also put carers on the same footing as the people they care for, by giving them the right to their own assessment and support from their local council. This could be practical support, like being able to take a break from caring responsibilities, or carers may be entitled to a direct payment to spend on things that will make it easier to carry on caring as well as looking after themselves.

Carers will be entitled to an assessment even if the person they care for does not get any help from the council, or the person being cared for does not want their own assessment.

In Lancashire there are more than 100,000 carers, many of whom could be eligible for this help.

Additionally, people should not have to sell their homes in their lifetime to pay for care home costs. Instead, 'deferred payment agreements', which some councils already offer, will be available across the whole country.

Under the agreements some people will be able to have an arrangement with their council that will let them use the value of their home to cover the cost of their residential or nursing care. In these cases, the council would pay the residential bills and allow people to delay repaying the cost until they choose to sell their home, or until they die.

And from April 2016 there will be a limit on the care costs people have to pay. This means that no one will have to pay more than £72,000 towards the care element of the costs of meeting their needs in their lifetime, and many people will pay much less.

County Councillor Tony Martin, Lancashire's cabinet member for adult and community services, said: "We already provide help and support to nearly 30,000 people across Lancashire, together with 17,000 carers. These could be carers who need a well–earned break, people moving to Lancashire from another part of the country, or an older person looking to move to a care home without having the worry and upset of selling their home to pay the bills.

"So, if you think you may need help, please call us to get advice about your situation."

People who already receive care and support from the county council do not need to do anything. Their services will be reviewed in the normal way.

Pupils' wood trip

PUPILS from Westhead Lathom St James' CE Primary School visited Ruff Wood to see the improved features including new animal sculptures, new benches and better paths, funded by receipts received by the council from new housing developments in Derby ward.

They were joined by ward councillor Adrian Owens, council officials and groundwork staff. Cllr. Owens said: "The improvements make the wood much easier to access for people with mobility difficulties, bringing the enjoyment of this little gem to a greater number of people."

Police precept rise approved

LANCASHIRE police and crime commissioner Clive Grunshaw's proposal for a 1.99% increase to the police precept has been accepted by members of the county's police and crime panel.

Mr Grunshaw's proposal follows a six–week exercise which gathered comments from more than 2,400 people from all parts of the county.

The panel approved Mr Grunshaw's recommendations at a meeting on January 26.

The commissioner said: "Lancashire residents have told me by three to one that they support an increase in the council tax precept to help fund police. More than 2,400 people had their say as part of the extensive consultation which is up 600 responses on previous years and goes to show how strongly people feel about their police.

"In all, 75% of the respondents said they would like to see an increase of more than 2%, with 52% prepared to pay up to an extra 5% in order to help reduce the cuts facing the police budget this year. The remaining 25% said they wanted to freeze the charge."

The commissioner's survey asked residents if they wanted to freeze the precept at the current £156 a year average band D bill amount; increase it by 2% or 6p per week to around £159 a year; or increase it by 5% or 15p a week to around £163 a year.

He added: "I explained that raising the precept is one way we can help mitigate some – but not all – of the cuts we face. An increase of 2% is worth £1.2m to the police budget each year."

Olivia 'homes' in on starring role

A FORMER Ormskirk Grammar School pupil turned actress will be returning to 'home' territory – well, almost – when she takes a leading role in a stage production of a popular film.

Olivia Sloyan will star as Sue in 'Rita, Sue and Bob, Too' just a dozen miles or so from her Town Green home at the St Helens Theatre Royal. The play runs from Tuesday to Saturday, February 24 to 28.

The comedy tells the story of Rita and Sue, two working–class girls from a run–down council estate in Yorkshire who babysit for a couple from a more affluent part of town and both end up having an afaiir with the husband, Bob.

Olivia, who attended Mount Carmel Primary before going on to the grammar school, recently starred in a national tour of the musical Blood Brothers.

She has also been cast as a police officer in action film thriller, 'Age of Kill' which is due to be released later this year.

Olivia told the Champion: "I saw the film a while ago and thought that it was really funny. I also really enjoyed reading the play years back, although obviously I didn't realise then that I would end up performing it. It really is hilarious and I am looking forward to performing in it."

Animal artists return to Mere

Report by Henry James

THE Association of Animal Artists are to display a selection of their work at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre this February and March.

The association will be showcasing a wide variety of work, from water colours, to collages and various other types of wildlife themed art from both amateur and professional artists alike.

As part of this year's exhibit, both Julie Cross, who is a two time winner of the BBC Wildlife Artist of the Year award in the World Mammals Category and Su Melville, who won a prize in the Association of Animal Artists' annual competition in 2014, will be hosting informal demonstrations of their work from 10 am – 3pm in the exhibition hall on Saturday, February 14. Last year, Julie Cross was awarded the Wildlife Art Society's Christopher Parsons Award for Artistic Excellence.

The association was founded in 2009 and was set up to support animal artists in order to promote and exhibit their artwork. The AAA will be showcasing a vast selection of their work daily in the exhibition hall near the main admissions desk on the way into the centre.

Last year's exhibition was a huge success, with the AAA generating over £2,500 over its two month display.

This show is 'great family fun'

Review by Ron Ellis

• Beauty and the Beast
• West End Players
• Lord Street West Church Hall

This is a true, old–fashioned pantomime by the last of Southport's church hall drama groups with colourful costumes and an intelligent script by Ben Crocker making for a fast–moving show with lots of humour.

Kay Billingsley and Adele O'Neill make a charming couple as The Prince and Beauty while Neil Spruce gives the Beast a poignancy which endeared him to the audience despite having been turned into a monster by the Wicked Witch (Dorothy Hughes).

John Husdell with his beguiling French accent, turns in a delightful comic performance as Felix the Poodle and Greta Wharton shines as Beauty's Mum.

Jenny Robson, makes her WEP'S debut, sparkled as Capucine, who is in love with Beauty's brother, Jacques (Jan Husdell).

Unfortunately, it was predominately adults in attendance on the Friday evening so it lacked the atmosphere of the Saturday matinee which boasted a packed crowd full of children who contributed the obligatory boos and the shouts with gusto.

Wendy Aspin and Diana Draper direct the show. Margaret Prew provided piano accompaniment and the choreographer is Chloe Ackers who, as guest vocalist, shows great professionalism as she sings delightful renditions of Beauty and the Beast, Let it Go from Frozen and Eternal Flame. Star Rating 7 out of 10. Great family fun.

Blues Brothers hoping to excite theatre audiences

The Chicago Blues Brothers coming to town Code NA

FOLLOWING their successful international Sweet Home Chicago tour, The Chicago Blues Brothers are now returning to the UK with a new action packed show and will be at Southport Theatre on Saturday, March 14 at 7.30pm.

It was all the way back in 1978 that John Belushi and Dan Aykroyd (aka Joliet Jake Blues & Elwood J Blues!) first unleashed the might that was to become The Blues Brothers on the NBC show Saturday Night Live coast to coast in the United States of America. Did Belushi and Aykroyd realise they would initiate an abundance of folk wearing pork pie hats and dark glasses, all professing to be on a mission from God?

Somewhat mirroring the films, 30 years of rock solid rhythm and blues have been the foundation of this theatre production.

The show is complete with an elaborate stage set and a seven–piece live band.

PLANNING AND COMPULSORY PURCHASE ACT 2004 – SECTION 20
THE TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING (LOCAL PLANNING) (ENGLAND) REGULATIONS 2012 – REGULATIONS 19 AND 20

Sefton Council

Local Plan for Sefton

Sefton Council has prepared a new Local Plan which will replace the current Sefton Unitary Development Plan policies (June 2006). The Local Plan will set out the Council's planning framework for future development in the Borough until 2030. It includes policies and proposals for development that will meet Sefton's housing and employment needs and address a range of key issues facing the Borough.

The Council proposes to submit the Local Plan to the Secretary of State for independent examination under Section 20 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, along with the required supporting documents. Prior to this, the Council are inviting representations about the Local Plan which they propose to submit to the Secretary of State. All representations will be submitted to the Secretary of State with the Local Plan and considered by an independent Planning Inspector. The Proposed Submission Local Plan was published on Friday 30th January 2015 and the Council are inviting representations to be submitted on this document, and its supporting evidence. All representations must be received, in writing, by no later than Friday 27th March 2015. Representations received after this date will not be accepted and anonymous representations will not be considered.

All documents are available to view on the Council's website at www.sefton.gov.uk/localplan and at the Sefton Council Planning offices at Magdalen House, 30 Trinity Road, Bootle, Merseyside, L20 3NJ (Mondays to Thursdays 9am – 5pm and Fridays 9am – 4pm). Copies of the Local Plan, Policy Map, Sustainability Appraisal, Habitats Regulations Assessment, statement of representations procedure and the representation form, will also be available to view at the Sefton Council Libraries in Southport, Bootle, Formby, Crosby, Maghull and Netherton, (see http://www.sefton.gov.uk/schools-learning/libraries/your-local-library.aspx for Library opening times).

It is preferred that comments be submitted on the representations form found on the website. Representations can also be submitted by e-mail to Local.plan@sefton.gov.uk or by letter to the Sefton Council Planning Offices at Magdalen House, 30 Trinity Road, Bootle, Merseyside, L20 3NJ. Hard copies of the Local Plan Publication document and supporting documents may be purchased from the Council at its office. Details of charges are available on the website at www.sefton.gov.uk/localplan.

PRAYER

HOLY SPIRIT

You, who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You, who gave the Divine Gift to forgive and forget all that is done to me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in their perpetual glory. To that end, and submitting to God's Holy Will, I ask You (mention your request).

This prayer must be said for three consecutive days. After the third day the request will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish the entire dialogue as a condition of having your request granted.

Hot hatch VW available soon

By David Simister

VOLKSWAGEN'S Golf GTD – essentially a diesel–powered version of the GTI hot hatchback – is being sold as an estate for the first time. Prices have yet to be announced, but expect it to be slightly more than the £25,285 the smaller Golf GTD hatchback costs.

It'll be available to order from April, with the first cars arriving here in June.

Why the Audi A5 is too relaxed to be impressive

The German motor won't challenge your skills as a driver

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

HERE'S one to discuss next time you're at the pub. What is the coolest car from Audi's current range?

Last time I delved into this particular discussion, the nominations for this year's Coolest Audi Award were the RS5, largely for being a modern–day equivalent of Gene Hunt's Quattro, the R8 because you can pretend it's a Lamborghini in a boring suit, and the S1 because it's a beltingly quick hot hatch.

In fact, I've long maintained the only Audi even vaguely within sniffing distance of being cool is the A7. Not the hugely powerful, range–topping RS7 version either. Just the basic A7 in its purest form, because it's the only big Audi which doesn't have the baggage of being a tailgater's favoured set of wheels.

The Audi A5 is great at eating up the miles with very little effort for the driver Code NA

That's probably why I've found driving the A7's baby brother – the A5 Sportback – over the past few days such an eye–opener.

If you're in the market for a sleek, family–friendly express for between £25–35k it's well worth a look, because it's pleasingly proportioned, roomier than you'd expect a coupe–esque five–door to be, and built with the sort of attention to detail that'd give the scientists at CERN sleepless nights.

Yet its trump card – and one it shares with all the A3s and A4s I've driven over the past few years – is also why I suspect I'm forever encountering A5 drivers thundering past me on the motorway at improbable speeds. It is, put simply, a piece of cake to drive at very high speeds.

At 70mph in sixth, the 2.0 litre turbodiesel engine in the one I'd borrowed wasn't even nudging 2000rpm – in other words, it was barely breaking into a sweat. It's not even fast in a particularly sporty way that eggs you on to go faster; it's just that the Audi is so composed at this sort of speed it shrugs it off.

The temptation is to settle into the A5's natural groove – the sort of three figure speeds you'll see perfectly standard Audis doing every day on German autobahns. The reason why you see so many cars with four rings on the front doing upwards of 85mph is because doing so requires absolutely no effort whatsoever from the driver, who's only really there to dial in the occasional steering input to stop it hitting the central reservation.

The A5 is a superbly talented bit of kit, but I prefer my executive expresses to be a bit more involving. That'll be the Jaguar XF, then.

Victory search goes on

Burscough 2
Scarborough Athletic 3

BURSCOUGH'S search for their first league win of 2015 continued on Saturday as they slipped to this odd goal in five defeat at the hands of their Yorkshire visitors in this Evo–Stik Northern Premier League First Division North clash.

The victory took the visitors into fourth place in the table while the Linnets remain in 15th.

Recent signing Tom Corner gave Athletic a 10th–minute lead that Matty Plummer doubled on the half–hour mark.

Paul Williams pulled the Linnets back into the game six minutes later, only for Jimmy Ghaichem to restore Boro's two–goal lead less than a minute after that.

Nick Ryan reduced the deficit for the home men again on the hour but Boro held on to seal the points.

Academy seeking recruits

BURSCOUGH FC Youth Academy is looking for new recruits aged 16 to 18.

They are inviting school leavers and their parents to a football match/recruitment event they are hosting in partnership with Elite Sports Academy at Victoria Park, on Tuesday, February 17 from 6 to 8pm.

Ideally, they are looking to recruit students interested in combining football with study for a BTEC in sport from September.

There will be a match followed by a meeting with representatives of Burscough FC and Elite Sports Academy, so players need to take their football kit and boots.

For more information visit www.eliteschools.co.uk or call 0151 4275702.

Chairman steps down but club steps up drive for sponsorship and support

SKELMERSDALE United have announced the resignation, after only eight months in office, of chairman, Chris Lloyd.

Former chairman, Paul Griffiths has been asked by the board to step back into the role and Norman Fenney has taken on the role of vice–chairman.

Meanwhile, the club is currently pursuing financial sponsorships to underpin and sustain their cash–flow until the end of the season.

Promotion to the next tier of the non–league pyramid, Conference North, would take the club back to the level it achieved following the Amateur Cup success at Wembley in 1971.

Then average home gates were between 1,000 and 1,500 and the club would like to see the current average of 285 boosted to around 400/450.

In addition to seeking financial support from local companies, the club is keen to welcome more local people through the turnstiles.

A club statement declared: "We will continue to move forward with our plan for promotion and the board of directors have themselves invested heavily alongside all our sponsors especially, Messenger Express, our main sponsor. We have also recently lodged plans with the local planning authority to further develop the covered standing area at the ground.

"Any company or individual who feels they can help financially can contact club chairman Paul Griffiths on 07513123164 or vice–chairman Norman Fenney on 01695 575958.

"Skelmersdale United FC is a club of the community and for the community and any support you can offer will be gratefully received."

Home run could be key to title hopes

By Neil Leatherbarrow

SKELMERSDALE United are entering a three–week period that could have a crucial bearing on whether they have the credentials to lift the Evo–Stik Premier Division title.

They currently lead the table by eight points but other teams behind them have games in hand so they must make the most of any opportunities that are offered.

United are at home on all the next three weekends and all the games on paper are winnable, making a yield of nine points a realistic target – nine points that could give a big boost to their championship hopes.

The run begins this Saturday when Stamford make the long trip up from South Lincolnshire for a second–ever match at Stormy Corner.

Next Saturday, Matlock Town travel to Stormy and on Saturday, February 21 King's Lynn Town will arrive from Norfolk.

All are return fixtures and Skelmersdale picked up seven points from the away trips to the three venues, so Tommy Lawson's hopes will justifiably be high.

Martin Fearon – back in light training

Back in October Skem went to Stamford and returned with a very commendable 3–1 victory under their belts, Aidan Kirkbride and a brace from Connor McCarthy doing the damage.

The Daniels have since then struggled a bit for form and are sitting in 17th position in the table with 34 points from 29 games.

But there is a twist that Skelmersdale will have to be aware of – Stamford have won seven times on the road and only Skem, Ilkeston and Buxton can boast a better away win record. So they will be well versed in how to manufacture a victory on away soil.

Tommy Lawson will again have Steve James donning the goalkeeper's gloves. The youngster, who is on loan from Preston North End, has impressed the Skelmersdale management.

But there is news about injured goalkeeper Martin Fearon, who is back in light training. According to Tommy Lawson this week he is still feeling the knee, but it is vastly improved.

Another injury absentee is Tom Ince, who injured his knee in the game at Stamford. Tom is said to be improving well and Tommy is hopeful that he will available for the run–in to the end of the season.

Richmond's quick–fire treble blows rivals away

Poulton Town 2
Burscough Richmond 3

THE Poulton captain's decision to play against the strong wind in the first half after winning the toss proved crucial in this West Lancs League 1 clash at Cottam Hall as his side went three goals down in the opening minutes, writes George Clandon.

At least two of the goals could be attributed to the effect of the wind, although credit must be given to Jimmy Hanson who cleverly took advantage of the conditions.

From their very first corner kick, the Richmond winger floated the ball against the stiff breeze with a pinpoint cross and with the home defence deceived it was deflected into the net by striker Mike Galliers.

And five minutes later Jordan Lorde forced another corner after good build–up work. This time Hanson's kick sent the ball spinning to the head of Chris Andrews at the near post and the tall midfielder's angled header went wide of Poulton keeper Brown to put Richmond two up.

The third came on the 15–minute mark when a Mike Edwards found Hanson in space and the little winger strode into the box before lashing the ball past Brown.

The home side gradually started to come to terms with the elements and they were awarded what apeared to be harsh penalty against young Richmond full–back Ryan Blackwell for handball.

Tom Shacklady did well to save the initial spot kick but the ball rebounded to Eastwood who fired home – despite the visitors' protests that he had encroached – to make it 1–3 at the interval.

After the break it was the hosts' turn to make use of the elements and they pulled another goal back within 10 minutes of the restart when striker Matt Landiss took advantage of slack marking to give Shacklady no chance.

This prompted a siege by the home side in search of the equaliser and they did find the net again only for the effort to be ruled out for offside.

The Richmond back line and goalkeeper then excelled themselves in a great rearguard action with full–back Lee Morton being awarded man of the match as the visitors held out to take all three valuable points.
